W. Blair.

Camp before Prague, May 24. All the Redouts and Lines of the Pruſſians have been compleated without any Oppoſition, and the Batteries on both Sides of the River are now finiſhed; the Mortars and heavy Artillery are arrived, and it is expected that the Bombardment will begin forthwith. Laſt Night it was perceived that a Sally was intended; Marſhal Keith gave the proper Orders, and the whole Camp on this Side the River was alert. About Two o'Clock in the Morning the Sally began. It conſiſted of about Ten Thouſand Men; they attacked a Battery which was not finiſhed, from which they were repulſed ſeveral Times. The Action was very obſtinate and laſted full three Hours, but at Day break they retired into Prague in ſome Confuſion, without being able to damage the Works, or to make any Impreſſion on the Pruſſian Troops. What the Loſs of the Auſtrians was we do not certainly know; the killed on both Sides lye yet unburied. On our Side there were 48 killed, and 217 wounded, of whom 13 were Officers. Deſerters come in daily in great Numbers from Marſhal Daun's Army as well as from Prague. In the Sally of laſt Night Prince Ferdinand of Pruſſia had his Horſe ſhot under him, and was himſelf ſlightly wounded in the Chin. The Intention of the Auſtrians in this Sally was not only to deſtroy the Batteries that were raiſing, but to have attacked the Bridges of Communication which the Pruſſians have upon the Moldau, at about one Quarter of a German Mile above and below Prague, at Branick and Podbaba; and the Deſerters ſay, their whole Army was drawn out upon the Ramparts, to have ſupported the Attack if they had repulſed the Pruſſians. The laſt Letters from the Prince of Bevern's Army ſay, that he had taken Poſſeſſion of Colin, Nimburg, Suchdol, and ſome other leſſer Magazines. That Count Daun's Army lay with the Right to Kuttenberg, ſo extended as to cover Czaſlau, from whence they are tranſporting their Magazine to Chrudim, and it is believed they intend to retire into Moravia.

Hague, June 3. We are informed from the Frontiers, that the Want of Forage in the French Army, particularly Hay, is ſo very great, that beſides the Cavalry which has remained behind the Rhine, Marſhal d'Eſtrées himſelf, the Princes of the Blood, and all the Officers of the Army without Exception, have been obliged to ſend back a great Part of their Horſes, in order to ſubſiſt thoſe that remain. Our Accounts from Bohemia ſay, That the Pruſſians were to begin firing upon Prague on the 27th of May: That their Artillery, on Account of the Badneſs of the Roads, did not arrive till the 26th; and that the Sally made by the Auſtrians, on the 24th, was reckoned to have coſt them about 4000 Men. It is ſaid the Elector of Bavaria has aſſured his Pruſſian Majeſty, by one of his Chamberlains, whom he ſent on Purpoſe to the Army, that he would ſtrictly obſerve a Neutrality: That he had taken no Meaſures with the Court of Vienna, but what he had been forced to do, as well as many other Members of the Empire; and that he was ready to renounce all his Engagements with the French and Auſtrians.

Dublin,

Dublin, June 7.

Laſt Saturday being the Anniverſary of the Birth of his Royal Highneſs the Prince of Wales, the Great Guns were fired in His Majeſty's Park the Phœnix, and anſwered by Vollies from the Regiments in Garriſon, which were drawn out in the Royal Square at the Barracks: At Noon there was a very ſplendid Appearance of the Nobility, and other Perſons of Diſtinction, at the Caſtle, to compliment their Excellencies the Lords Juſtices upon the Occaſion: In the Evening there was a Play given by their Excellencies for the Entertainment of the Ladies, and the Night concluded with every Demonſtration of Joy.
